WAKAMURO ROBOT

A Japanese company started selling a futuristic home robot on September 16th. Its name is Wakamuru, a humanoid robot that is 120 cm tall and weighs 45 kg. It is designed to help people do the housework - but only if you are rich!! Because Mitsubishi Heavy Industries put 100 Wakamaru robots on sale at a price of $150,000.

The robot is the idea of Japanese designer Toshiyuki Kita. He says that Wakamuru has an independent personality and was designed in the shape of a human being so that it is not considered simply a machine with arms and hands. It is much more than that.

Wakamuru has an impressive number of features. It can recognize up to ten different people by name and has a vocabulary of 10,000 words. It can also navigate its way around the house. The Wakamaru website explains three major functions that will help the lives of the robot's users: It can live and speak with the family and be a friend; and it looks after the house when no one is at home because the master can see his or her house through Wakamuru's eyes - a camera - when he or she is on a trip. It can watch TV with its master, send e-mail or even vacuum the master's house while he or she is at work or at the gym. So... don't think twice! You can have the child you always wanted... at the incredible price of $150,000!

Dear Sir / Madam,

I'm writing about a Wakamuru robot with I bought from your shop on November 10th. I enclose a copy of the original receipt.

I followed the instructions carefully but I'm afraid that the product doesn't work properly. First, sometimes the robot doesn't turn on. Secondly, the batteries are always flat. Besides, the sound quality is bad and the volume is always low. And, last but not least, my Wakamuru robot can't speak English (it only speaks Japanese!) and can't clean my house and was assured that your engineer would call up on me, but I have heard nothing since.

I'd be grateful if you could refund my money. If you do not refund my money immediately, I will contact my solicitor.

Yours faithfully,
Samuel Mctyre.
